Joseph Fielding Smith celebrates 95th birthday

By SHERYL HENDERSON
and
TOM McMULLIN

Monday, Pres. Joseph Fielding Smith, whose life spans the entire era from the pioneer days and covered wagons to the jet airplane and the space age, will be 95 years old. Pres. Smith became the tenth president of the Church on Jan. 23, 1970, being sustained at age 93.

Pres. Smith, whose life covers the administrations of all presidents except the first one, his great-uncle the Prophet Joseph Smith, was born in Salt Lake City on July 19, 1876. A son of Joseph F. Smith, sixth president of the Church, Pres. Smith is also the grandson of Hyrum Smith, patriarch of the Church and brother of the Prophet Joseph Smith.

It was in the home of his boyhood in Salt Lake City that Pres. Smith, through the teachings of his father and through study, gained spiritual strength and learned to love the Gospel. He grew up in the South Ward where he held offices in the Aaronic Priesthood and was ordained a elder.

He enrolled in the former Latter-day Saint University and following two years of study there he accepted a position with ZCMI. In April of 1898 he married Louie Emyle Shurtliff, and a year later he was called to serve in the British Mission.

During his lifetime Pres. Smith has served in numerous Church capacities and has introduced several new programs into the Church.

Upon returning from his mission, he worked in the Church Historian's Office where he was named assistant Church historian in 1906 and historian and general recorder in 1921. He continued to serve as Church historian for nearly 50 years, until he was called to be president of the Church in 1970.

Further responsibility came to Pres. Smith when he became secretary of the Genealogical Society in 1907. For more than 50 years his genealogical services continued as he became director, treasurer, vice president, chairman of the executive board and eventually president of the Society. He founded the Utah Genealogical and Historical Magazine in 1910 and served as its editor. He was released from this calling in 1961.

At the General Conference of the Church in April 1910, Pres. Smith was called to the Council of the Twelve at the age of 33. He became president of that council on April 12, 1951, and was named to the First Presidency on Oct. 28, 1965 serving in those two positions until the death of Pres. David O. McKay.

As a member of the Council of the Twelve, he has traveled extensively visiting stakes and missions throughout the world. In 1955 he toured the Far East and divided the Japanese Mission into the Northern and Southern Far East Missions.

Since Pres. Smith became president, 11 new missions and 49 new stakes have been organized. Church membership has continued to increase, and Church officials estimate that membership will pass the three million mark sometime this month. An added facet of this rapid growth has been the innovation of General Conferences held throughout the world, spearheaded by the conference to be held next month in Madrid.

Two years before he became a member of the Council of the Twelve, Pres. Smith lost his first wife Louie Emyle. She died March 20, 1908. On Nov. 2, 1908, he married Ethel Georgia Reynolds. She died Aug. 26, 1937. Pres. Smith married Jessie Evans, former operatic contralto, concert singer and soloist with the Tabernacle Chor, Apr. 12, 1938.

All of his sons filled missions for the Church and all of his children were married in the temple.

During his period of service to the Church he has attended the dedication of nine temples in St. George, Salt Lake City, Hawaii, Alberta, Arizona, Idaho Falls, Los Angeles, London and Oakland. Two other temples were dedicated when he was a child, the Logan Temple and the Manti Temple. Three other temples, in Provo, Ogden, and Washington, are being built during his administration.

Also being built during Pres. Smith's administration is the new skyscraper Church Office Building. Pres. Smith was also instrumental in the planning and building of the granite Genealogical storage vaults in Little Cottonwood Canyon.

During his busy schedule Pres. Smith has found time to write numerous books and articles.

He conducted a question and answer column in the Improvement Era, and as chairman of the Church Reading Committee, he has read thousands of manuscripts for Church organizations. During his administration the Church Magazine was unified.

Among his varied activities and responsibilities Pres. Smith found time to make a major contribution to education in the Church, serving as a member of the BYU Board of Trustees since 1912 and the Church Board of Education since 1917. His scholarship and interest in education was recognized when BYU presented him with an honorary Doctor of Letters degree on June 4, 1952.

As a lifelong member of the Church dedicated to serving others, Pres. Smith's philosophy of life is that a person should keep busy. He has said:

"A man should never retire, and I am witness to the fact. There are a number of cases where men have retired, and nature took them at their word. When a man retires from his employment, he should keep busy at something."

There will be a bus leaving Friday night July 16 at 6 p.m. from the parking lot east of the Wilkinson Center to take students to the Mormon Pagoda in Manti. The bus holds 41 passengers and seating must be reserved by seeing Claudia Jenkins on the fourth floor of the ELWC by noon on Friday. Special reduced seating has been arranged in Manti for those taking this bus.

This Saturday, July 17, the Freshman class is sponsoring the "Summer Basement Uprising." It will take place from 6:30 p.m. until midnight. Tickets will be sold July 14, 15, and 16 at the ELWC third floor ticket office from 1:30 p.m. Ticket cost is 50 cents. ELWC Games Center activities included in the 50 cent ticket include: 2 lines of bowling, ½ hour of ping pong, ¼ hour of shuffleboard, foosball at 10 cents, and, on the West Patio, a Rock Dance. Tickets will also be sold at the Games Center desk on the night of the event.

Late preferring is going on right now in the fourth floor ASBYU office, and will continue until the week of "Calico and Crystal." Tickets for the ball will be on sale in the ELWC Step-down Lounge July 20 through 23 between 1-5 p.m. The cost is only $2.00 per couple. The July 23 dance will feature the Soft Impressions, with a special intermission show presented by the Rogues' Gallery.

Young marrieds, free babysitters will be provided in your home on July 23. Those interested should call Ext. 3019 no later than July 21st to make arrangements for baby care.

"Calico and Crystal" will be a highlight of the summer, ladies, so please don't let timidity keep you from being a part of the happening. Pull that young man's card and make plans for soft lights, soft music, and a pioneer eve of magic you'll never forget.

The Varsity Theatre is showing "Sergeant Ryker", starring Lee Marvin and Vera Miles, through this Saturday. Beginning Monday, the feature will be "Run Wild, Run" with John Mills.

Today

Jose Greco at Forum

"There is no reason why an educational experience cannot be lively, stimulating and certain entertainment," commented Jose Greco, a renowned Spanish Dancer, who with his partner Nana Lores, will present Spain's thrilling dances in Forum July 15.

In this program Mr. Greco will discuss and then demonstrate with Nana Lores the various techniques and characteristics of dances from Aragon, Valencia, Castile, Andalusia, and the Basque country.

Audiences all over the world have been thrilled with the lecture-demonstration performance. In fact the Omaha World Herald observed "This was one lecture that got a standing ovation at its close."

Ketchikan, Alaska, clings to the edge of a heavily forested island. Since there are no roads in or out of Ketchikan, the channels become a "marine highway."

Alaska is a fishing capital and picturesque harbors and fishing boats are not uncommon sights.

It's nearly midnight before the sun finally sets only to rise a couple of hours later.

Operation Midnight Sun

BYU group returns home

What can you say after spending a month in Alaska with BYU's Operation Midnight Sun?

"Fantastic!"

That's the general opinion of ten BYU students and their instructors upon their return to Provo last weekend.

Under the direction of Herbert E. McLean, BYU communications instructor, and Wallace M. Barrus, photographic instructor at BYU, the group traveled throughout Alaska, writing and photographing in the wilds of Southeastern Alaska. The students are now beginning an intensive two-week period in which they will write articles and develop photographs to be sold to national outdoor, boating, camping and trade magazines in preparing their articles.

Traveling in camping vans, members of the group often resorted to other means of transportation once they arrived in Alaska: ferries, float planes, helicopters, tug boats—and plenty of "boot leather"—in search of story material.

The four-week trek was "strictly a camping situation," according to McLean. The students attest to this after setting up their Thermos pop tents in driving rainstorms on the top deck of the Alaskan ferry ships, and on precarious mountain sides.

A highlight of the adventure was an eight-hour rafting trip down the Stikine, the fastest navigable river in North America. The BYU rafters were flown to their departure point at the Canadian border and picked up by float plane.

Toward the end of June eight members of the group spent four days climbing the rugged Chilcotin Pass, the same trail used by the Klondike gold rushers of 1898. With 40-pound packs on their backs they covered miles of snow fields, icy rivers and rock slides to become the first parties over the Pass this season.

Breakfast aboard the Ketchikan Maru, a Japanese freightliner, a chartered boat trip to a desolate Indian village in southeastern Alaska were included in the group's list of adventures.

Operation Midnight Sun, which carries eight semester hours of credit, is recognized as a unique offering among American colleges. The venture is sponsored by the BYU Travel Study and Communications Department and will be offered again in 1972.

The OMS group backpacked across the Trail of '98 past the wreckage of towns and camps established more than seventy years ago.

Float planes are a necessity in Alaska for reaching those perfect lakes loaded with fish. The OMS group made flights gathering story material.

Camping in the vans helped members of the group stay lively and energetic as the pace of interviewing and photographing increased.

Traveling through Canada to catch the Alaska ferry at Prince Rupert, the group found their camping vans fantastic for travel as well as a good emergency clothesline.

Soviet ship defective

Official investigators attribute the death of three Soyuz 11 cosmonauts to the sudden loss of cabin pressure caused by a leaky seal in the ship's structure upon re-entry after 24 days in space.

Pentagon paperbacks

The Pentagon Papers have already been published in paperback. Pentagon officials have ordered 500 copies.

Disneyland spreads east

Disneyland East, a 27,500-acre vacation center carved out of Florida's rich citrus belt near Orlando, will open its gates Oct. 1 to an expected 10 million visitors during the first year.

Kennecott indicted

The Chilean congress unanimously approved the nationalization of U.S. copper interests, setting the stage for tough bargaining on the amount of indemnity to be paid. Marxist President Salvador Allende accused Anaconda and Kennecott copper companies of "irrational exploitation" of Chile's copper resources.

Dishonorable to honorable

Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard says the Pentagon is preparing to grant retroactive amnesty on an individual basis to former members of the armed forces already discharged under less than honorable conditions because of drug use. The measure is to encourage military personnel to submit themselves voluntarily for treatment and rehabilitation.

Education bill signed

President Nixon signed the largest educational appropriations bill in this nation's history, Sunday—$5.1 billion. The President is now pressing Congress to reform and expand higher education student aid programs on the grounds that "no qualified student who wants to go to college should be barred by lack of money."

Religious Crusader threatened

Threats on the life of evangelist Billy Graham have become so frequent that he must keep around-the-clock protection at his Montreal, N.C., home. Mr. Graham emphasized, however, that he is "not afraid of threats—or death."

Can't keep busy

John W. Mahan, head of the Subversive Activities Control Board, an organization created during the Truman Administration, has conceded that there is not enough work to keep the board and its staff busy.

Summer without draft

With the House and Senate deadlocked over the selective service issue, the possibility still looms of a summer long suspension of the draft. Further debate will resume July 20.

Sol Estes freed

Billie Sol Estes, serving but six years of a 15-year sentence for his part in a multimillion dollar swindle, walked out of jail a free man Monday.

Priest opposes prayer

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., the first Catholic priest elected to Congress in more than a century, has announced his opposition to a constitutional amendment that would allow prayer in public schools. "I don't think Congress should tamper with the Bill of Rights which forbids the establishment of religion," he said.

Concert Band and Summer Symphony

Musical groups give concert tonight

The BYU Concert Band and Summer Symphony, conducted by Dr. Ralph G. Laycock, will perform tonight at 8:15 in the Recital Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center.

THE CONCERT is free and the public is invited.

The Concert Band will perform "Second Suite in F" by Holst, one of the first great composers to write for the concert band.

'They went that 'a way,' a quiz on cowboy flicks

Everybody knows Roy Rogers had a horse named Trigger. But what was the name of the steed Ken Maynard rode?

Here are 16 questions recalling Western movies of years past. You can consider yourself a cowboy movie expert if you can answer more than 12 correctly.

1. John Wayne was established as a Western star in "Stagecoach." Who was his leading lady in this classic?

2. What former singing Western movie star recorded the ballad for "High Noon," although he had no role in the film?

3. What early Western star owned "Fritz," the first horse to make a name for himself in films?

4. Ken Maynard's horse had the same name as what noted film and comic strip character?

5. Early cowboy star William S. Hart, a notorious ladies' man, proposed marriage to almost all his leading ladies. Much to his chagrin, one actually accepted. Who was she?

6. What is the name of the back-up singing group that accompanied Roy Rogers and Dale Evans?

7. What character actor appeared over 300 times in Westerns, as the man whose confession invariably led to the round-up of the bad guys?

8. What Western film "heavy" earned a reputation for teaching other stars how to fight on the screen?

9. What notorious screen "heavy's" trademark became his all-white costume?

10. Which Western star came to cowboy movies via the Shakespearean stage?

11. What Western star known for his humor was also known because he never carried a gun — if he needed one, he borrowed it and stuck it in his boot?

12. Who was the name of cowboy star Tom Mix's horse?

13. What Western star started as a Sioux and Arapaho translator for Hollywood studios, later made movies that reflected his sympathies with the American Indian?

14. Who was actually the first singing cowboy despite his ordinary singing voice?

15. John Wayne recently won the Academy Award for his role of an aging deputy marshall in what film?

16. What former Western star took to the campaign trail last August as Republican candidate in the Tennessee Senatorial primary?

Stamped? Answers may be found on page 5.

ALSO FEATURED will be "Canzona" by Mennin, an American composer who is currently president of the Juilliard School of Music in New York City.

Other numbers include Texidor and Winter's "Amparita Roca, Spanish March," the first movement of Vivaldi and Lang's "Concerto for Two Trumpets," and the second movement of "Triparo for Band," by Forshland and Livingston.

AMONG THE PIECES performed by the Summer Symphony will be the first movement of "Symphony No. 5 in E Minor" by Dvorak. Entitled the "New World" symphony, it was written while Dvorak was in the U.S. and remains today one of his most popular works.

Cherubini's "The Portuguese Inn Overture," and Jacob's "Fantasia on the Aldeia Hymn" will also be played by the Summer Symphony.

STAN KENTON, internationally known jazz artist, will perform Wednesday, August 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse at BYU. Music lovers, audio engineers and students alike will converge to hear the Kenton sound, a sound which has been a favorite of jazz aficionados for years. A major contributor to the contemporary American music culture, Kenton was the third member to be elected to "Downbeat's" Jazz Hall of Fame. Tickets will soon go on sale for the concert, which is being held in conjunction with the Summer Lyceum Series and the Fifth Annual Audio-Recording Seminar.

It's great to arrive early for Manti pageant...but!

Two BYU sophomores, both majoring in zoology, wanted to get to Manti in plenty of time to witness this week's "Mormon Miracle Pageant." The trouble is they arrived two weeks early.

The duo, Doug Seymour of Fullerton, Calif., and George Holbrook Groberg of Idaho Falls, Idaho, were under the impression the pageant would begin two weeks ago.

So they hitch-hiked their way to Manti from Provo equipped with sleeping bags and other personal items in their packs. They wanted to sleep overnight.

When they discovered they had arrived two weeks before the actual pageant dates, they contemplated sleeping by the temple gates for 14 days to be sure of a good seat when the pageant premiered Monday.

R. Clair Anderson of the temple presidency told them he would be glad to take them back to Provo and then arrange transportation for them back to the Pageant on the night of their choice.

The chairman of the pageant crowd management committee assured the two BYU students that there would be two reserve seats saved for them on the night of their choice.

After giving the matter some consideration, they decided to return to Provo and resume their studies, promising that they would be back along with the other BYU students making the exodus to Manti this week.

The pageant will run again tonight, Friday and Saturday nights. Those who have already seen the pageant this week have rated it excellent and outstanding.

Stipend ruling postponed

A renumeration for the summer officers was one topic of the last ASBYU Executive Council meeting. The decision to vote on a regular stipend was tabled until permission could be obtained from the officers who will be presiding this fall.

Summer officers feel they should have some kind of financial compensation for their work and time, even though a current law restricts such an act.

The Council will send a form letter to the '71-'72 officers asking for opinions and advice. If the Council does not pass this summer, the officers will suggest it become effective for next summer's officers.

By Crisis Line

Listeners relate to troubled people

Editor's note: If you are interested in being a Crisis Line listener, applications are available at the ASBYU office, 4th floor LWC, or at the Community Program office at 75 East center.

Around our apartment, a young phone is usually nothing more serious than an MIA resident desperate for a writer.

The Crisis Line listeners have a totally different relationship to their phone-to-them, it is people in trouble. Their job is to listen and gear them to be able to effectively help their callers, and they look on each new experience as a chance to help the caller organize his thoughts and more competently view his own problems.

(The first weeks Prov's Crisis line was open (last March 18-19), they received 375 calls; here were 6 threatened suicides, deep depressions, 40 drug calls, 60 boy-girl problems, 39 generally distressed callers, 13 prank callers, 0 wrong numbers, and many others.

"It's not all serious either," said one of the listeners. "It's fun sometimes. One girl called me, trying to get this one certain guy like her. It wasn't really serious, but it was kind of a deep problem or something, but it was kind of fun. We made a big long list where we figured all his needs were and how we'd work out how we could satisfy those needs and more attractive."

The listener went on, "I think we've at least established some Registration set Sat.

According to the Registration students who have not yet registered for regular summer school classes may do so Saturday beginning at 7:30 a.m. in the ASB-University Center.

The drop-add for second session classes as well as second registration is from July 21 to July 26. August 6th is the last day a student may drop from a summer school class.

trust and confidence with that person, and she may not be having any big problem now, but six months from now she might have some things that ARE really serious on her mind. Probably the first thing she'll do, if she doesn't have somewhere to go, is call the Hotline."

"That's the basic philosophy, too, behind the prank calls," another Line worker said, after explaining that each prank call is treated like a genuine problem. "If you treat it seriously, he (the caller) will do it again. Well, when I do have a really serious problem they'll treat it right."

"Also, anyone who's calling up with a prank probably realizes that he's taking up the valuable time of some dedicated people," the listener continued. "They have a problem in the first place, and then they make a prank comes out of some deeper need—some deeper problem."

The majority of the problems are boy-girl problems, often from young teenagers. "Some of them are so cute you just want to giggle," said one girl. "You know, 'I'm a seventh grader and I'm going to be a mother.' And I just found out a ninth grade likes me.' You have to remember that, at one period of your life, that was a big problem."

Another type of call, one that usually comes in after midnight, is the housewife call. Women call in to complain that their husbands aren't playing cards with the boys!" and never seem to have enough time for their wives."

Some people call just to talk, because they need a friendly voice. Some are information seekers, curious about the activities of the Crisis Line. There are parental problems, sex problems, general disease problems and girls who call in panic when they discover they are pregnant.

In many cases, the Line workers are able to refer the callers to health clinics, or the Planned Parenthood organization, or other available services the caller wasn't aware existed.

Kimball defends Peter, his ancient colleague

Painting a colorful characterization of the Apostle Peter, Elder Spencer W. Kimball, acting president of the Quorum of the Twelve, told Tuesday's Devotional audience that "through the countless ages of eternity, the ancient apostle will extenuate his infidelity."

Elder Kimball said he was prompted to speak to the assembly about his brother-Simon Barjona, Cephas, better known as Peter—after reading an Easter Sunday editorial written by a minister which declared that through overconfidence, evil companionship, and failure to pray the ancient Church authority "had fallen."

Admitting that this infuriated him at first, that he felt attacked, Elder Kimball said that he could find no such character in the scriptures as this modern minister had described. Peter became the chief apostle; he was with the Lord at the Transfiguration; he assumed the leadership of the Church, and marched unflinchingly to martyrdom, said Elder Kimball.

"CHRIST KNEW the inner thoughts of all men, and yet he chose this fisherman," said Bro. Kimball. "The Savior picked a diamond. Certainly, the diamond needed to be cut, trimmed and polished."

Elder Kimball asserted, contrary to popular opinion, that Peter did not deny the divinity of Christ, ever. He only denied his association with him.

"Is it possible that Peter saw in his denial a feasible advantage?" asks Elder Kimball. Time and again, he has told his followers to refrain from declaring outright the Godhood of Christ until after the resurrection.

Elder Kimball explained that Peter had been a special target of the adversary. As Jesus once forewarned Peter, "Satan hath desired to have thee..."

The sectarian minister described a weak, cowardly Peter. But Elder Kimball explained that Peter had already given up his occupation and placed all his worldly possessions on the line when he followed the Savior.

AN UNLEARNED MAN, Peter grew and learned until he knew probably as much as any living man, commented Elder Kimball. "From the day he forsook his nets and boats, his life never turned away from Peter. Peter had the sick through faith, it being necessary only for his shadow to pass over them; and even prison walls could not hold him, said Bro. Kimball.

Ten Stake Fireside set Sunday

Dr. Leon R. Harlhorn and Dr. Walter D. Bowen of the College of Religious Instruction will be featured in a dialogue on the theme "The Cause of Zion" at the ten-stake fireside this Sunday, July 18, at 8:30 p.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall.

The fireside, under the direction of the BYU 7th Stake, will be centered around a pioneer day theme concerning our pioneer heritage.

Dr. Harlhorn has been born in Lehi, Utah, and is married to the former Bea Scoville. They are the parents of five children. He has served as seminary principal and institute director in Utah, California, and Idaho and as Chairman of the Religion Department at the Church College of Hawaii.

Dr. Harlhorn has written articles for The Instructor, the Improvement Era, and the MIA Leadership Manual. He is currently on the Church Correlation Committee.

Dr. Bowen was born in Malad, Idaho. He is married to the former Connie Hartman. They are the parents of eight children. He has taught at Utah State University Institute of Religion and in the seminary system. In 1966, he was elected "Professor of the Year" by the BYU student body.

Dr. Bowen has been bishop of the BYU 44th Ward and is presently in the BYU 10th Stake presidency.

Former editor receives post

Mark Murphy, a 1957 journalism graduate from BYU, has been appointed metropolitan editor of the Los Angeles Times.

Previously city editor of the Times' Orange County edition, Murphy will have responsibility for news coverage of the Los Angeles Metropolitan area and southern California. He joined the staff of the Times in 1964 after serving as managing editor of the Portland Oregonian.

A former resident of Ogden, he was editor of the Daily Universe when a student at BYU. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Murphy of Salem, Ore., and a grandson of Castle H. Murphy of Orem.

He is married to the former Marilyn Pack. They are the parents of four children.

At Fort Lewis

Wilkinson receives Army honor

Pres. Ernest L. Wilkinson of BYU last weekend received the Outstanding Civilian Service Medal, the Army's top civilian award, in ceremonies at Fort Lewis, Wash., "for his exemplary and wholehearted support of the Reserve Officer's Training Corps."

Wilkinson was honored at the annual Educators Visit to the State U.S. Army Cadet Camp, which was attended by administrators from 55 colleges and universities. A total of 1500 cadets from these schools are receiving six weeks of training at the summer camp.

Lt. Gen. Stanley R. Larson, commander of the Western Army, a special ceremony presented Pres. Wilkinson with a plaque which stated: "His positive approach and personal example in implementing measures designed to acquaint young men with the significance of ROTC, not only to the individual students but to the nation as well, contributed immeasurably during a period when both were declining on a national level."

The BYU contingent of 136 cadets at the camp represents the second largest group from any school. They are exceeded only by the University of South Dakota, which has 150 cadets in the camp, but the program is considerably smaller than that University. BYU has had voluntary Army ROTC since 1967 and Air Force ROTC since 1951.

Pres. Wilkinson gave a major address as part of the two-day

Modern dance shop offered

Up to five weeks of training in modern dance will be offered this summer through Brigham Young University's modern dance workshop.

A special workshop for junior and senior high school students interested in dance will be held on campus Aug. 9-20. The workshop will feature instruction in modern dance technique as well as composition, improvisation and choreography for beginning and advanced students.

An advanced workshop is designed especially for dance teachers and high school and college students with extensive experience in classes, club work or performance in creative dance. Participants may register for two weeks of work, July 19-30, or for a five week course July 19-Aug. 19.

Director for the workshops will be Sara Lee Gibb, coordinator of ballet and modern dance at BYU. She received her MS degree in dance at BYU and has had extensive experience in teaching as well as modern dance performance and choreography.

visit of educators and as his responsibility to the medal presentation he stated:

"I accept this honor as a testimonial to the religious faith of our students, their devotion to their country and their God, their willingness to pull themselves up by their own bootstraps rather than relying on their government, and their desire to do what it takes to uplift and preserve our country rather than to downgrade and destroy it. The same can be said of ROTC students elsewhere and that is why I think it is unpatriotic to do away with ROTC programs."

Gen. Larson also said, "As the largest private school in the country with a student body of 25,000 we are grateful we have had no disturbances. Our students come to learn, not to riot."

"We accomplish our objective by having a loyal faculty who are dedicated to teaching rather than spending their time away from the classroom trying to reform society through political action."

Golden Gate Shuffle myth, or future reality

By R. C. ROBERG
Sports Editor

In this mechanized age of such pulsating dances as the Alligator, Funky Broadway, Skinny, and those dances affiliated with acid rock type music (or noise, take your pick!), how about the Golden Gate Shuffle?

Oh, this isn't a current dance fad, indeed not, seeing that it is still somewhat in the architect's blueprints for early in October.

The "Golden Gate Shuffle" refers to that likely possibility of a World Series confrontation between the San Francisco Giants of the National League and the Oakland Athletics of the American League.

Presently, Oakland leads the American League Western Division with a 56-31 mark while San Francisco is the National League Western Division leader with a 55-35 showing.

Not since the days of yesteryear when New York City subway trains were running from the Bronx to Brooklyn carrying passengers to and from the famous "Nickle Series" between the New York Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers have avid baseball fans been offered such an economical program.

Thus the possibility of the "Golden Gate Shuffle" would be an economic move to the residents of Oakland and San Francisco.

However, seeing that this is 1971 and the economy of the nation resembles an erratic ping-pong-ball, the cost of this series would be 50 cents, but still that isn't too much to pay for transportation to the World Series.

But whether or not San Francisco and Oakland will collide still remains to be decided. The rest of the teams will be back in September, and it will not be until the end of September and after the inter-league division playoffs that the "Golden Gate Shuffle" will become a myth or a reality.

Chess tourney starts Friday

The annual BYU Summer Open Chess Tournament will be held over the weekend in the ELWC Games Center.

The tournament will consist of a 5-round Swiss tournament style play starting tomorrow at 5 p.m. -This event is open to anyone wishing to match minds in a most thought provoking game, chess.

In the Swiss style of chess play, a player must make 30 moves in the allotted time of one hour. Second round action is slated for 8:30 p.m. Friday, with the third, fourth and final rounds slated for Saturday at 9 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m., respectively.

Paul Young, BYU mathematics professor, took first place in the recently completed Summer Speed Chess Tournament. Rauli Uitto, a physics student, placed second, followed by Brent Davay, Alan Hansen, Dennis Hendricks and Kathy Zetterland.

Intramural softball programs attract multitude of competitors

With the intramural summer softball program entering into its final first round stages, all eyes are centered on gaining a berth in the All-Church Softball Tournament later next month.

Last year's winner in the Men's fast pitch division, the 53rd ward, again looks like the team to beat. However, the 70&79 ward, last year's runner-up, is out to dethrone the 53rd warden and have the material to do so this year. The 5th ward, composed of married students, also is a contender along with the 54th ward.

Last night the 53rd ward met the 70&79 ward, but due to an early deadline the results of the game were not available at press time.

In the pitch division the 98th ward has emerged as a leader with three teams in hot pursuit. The 48th ward, 60th ward and the 37th ward are all within striking distance of the leader, and with first round action rapidly coming to a close, they all stand a chance of advancement.

Switching from the McMen competition to the coed softball program the 37th ward is listed in first place, followed by the Mill Creek Gang and the 70&79 ward.

In the coed competition a BYV championship will be decided, but no team in the coed ranks will go to the All Church Tournament because the All-Church Tournament is restricted to M-Men competition.

Temple, Arlington receive new status

NEW YORK — Two colleges we've been elevated to University Division ("power") status for the 27 football season. They are Temple University and the University of Texas at Arlington.

This reclassification raises the number of major-college football teams to 119. The remaining 331 football-playing members of the National Collegiate Athletic Association are classified College Division (not "small" or minor).

The two new University Division teams were named after a analysis of their schedules and other criteria that bear on their football programs.

Wayne Hardin will be starting a first season as head coach at Temple, and John Symank will be starting his first season as head coach at Arlington.

The athletic directors are Ernie Callicott, Temple and Chen Galster at the University of Texas at Arlington.

Members of the eight-man NCAA Football Statistics and Classification Committee, which met in San Francisco, are Furman Bisher, Atlanta Journal; Wiles Cook, Western Athletic Conference; Tom Hansen, National Collegiate Athletic Association; Larr Klein (chairman), National Collegiate Sports Services; Volney Mece, Daily Oklahoman; John Mooney, Salt Lake City Tribune; Ed Sherman, Muskingum College; and Bill Young, University of Wyoming.

Toledo emerges as top defensive team

Toledo led the nation's major colleges in total defense over the last two years while winning two pass-defense crowns—an unusual route.

The other nine teams in the total-defense top 10 allowed more—usually far more—yards passing than rushing. Toledo's yield of 15.5 running-pass yards was edged Notre Dame's 21.9/2 in a margin of 1.4 national Collegiate Sports Services.

Not surprisingly, Toledo also won the five-year pass-defense title (9.4 yards allowed per game). It was no fluke. Toledo permitted just 55 yards per attempted pass—best in the nation. En route, Toledo became the five-year national leader with four team statistical crowns (pass defense 1966 and 1970, total defense 1969-70).

Toledo also boasts the longest current winning streak of any major 23 straight).

Utah fishing laws clarified on residency

"Non-resident fishing with resident license" has been entered on a number of citations issued recently by Utah Conservation Officers who remind anglers of the two month residency requirement.

Intramurals

Carl and Natacha Noonoanoons won the intramural coed table tennis championship in a hard fought duel with second place finishers John Van Orman and Bonnie Bjarnason.

In the paddleball singles competition Ron Johnson came in the runner-up with a three-way tie for second place recorded by Bob Boice, Doug Wood and Bill Goss.

Today also marks the start of the Intramural Golf Tournament. The tournament is to be held at the University Golf Course with the winner gaining a berth in the All-Church Golf Tournament.
